

MEN NEEDED FOR CONDOM STUDY EVALUATION OF HIS-UK

A University of Southampton study working in collaboration with other Universities and NHS Trusts and funded by the National Institute of Health Research (NIHR) Public Health Programme.

WE ARE LOOKING FOR MEN...

- Aged 16-25
- Who have recently NOT used a condom during sex with casual or new partners
- Who have internet access
- Who do not have a latex allergy
- Who are able to commit to the study duration

WHAT IS HIS-UK?

HIS-UK is a condom promotion study that aims to make using condoms more enjoyable.

The study provides education and training either face-to-face by a professional (proHIS) or online (eHIS) on topics including how to use condoms safely and finding the best condom and lubricant for you.

During the study, you will test a variety of condoms and lubricants on your own at home and then rate online the ones you try.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF MY TAKING PART?

You will be part of a study that is focused on encouraging condom use and decreasing STI risk in young men. As a thank you for taking part, you will receive up to £50 worth of vouchers.

To learn more and get involved please speak to a member of staff, ask for one of our contact cards, or visit:
